After noting the above list and color descriptions, realize the possibilities in planning your garden borders or beds. A solid border of orange, scarlet, yellow, etc. or of mixed colors using these very free flowering carnations will put your garden in the class of distinction. It is nothing unusual to have 200 flowers on one plant at one time.

The young plants while developing should have the main shoots pinched back to encourage the development of side branches to produce the maximum number of flowers.

We have these plants available throughout the year. Send us your order for mailing.
